Event Report

Date	Topic	Guest Name & Designation	Beneficiaries
24/07/2025	THE FUTURE OF AI:FROM AGI TO ASI	Mr.Prabhu Shankar	Students (110)

Summary of The Event:

The department of B.Com(CA & AF) organized this program for all the Ist,IInd and IIIrd year students of our department.

Outcome:

The seminar on "The Future of AI: From AGI to ASI" provided a comprehensive overview of the trajectory of artificial intelligence, tracing its evolution from task-specific systems (ANI) to the pursuit of Artificial General Intelligence (AGI), and the speculative realm of Artificial Superintelligence (ASI). Experts discussed current breakthroughs in machine learning and cognitive architectures that aim to replicate human-level reasoning, while emphasizing the ethical, societal, and existential risks posed by ASI. The session underscored the urgency of developing robust alignment strategies, global regulatory frameworks, and interdisciplinary collaboration to ensure AI remains beneficial and controllable. It concluded with a call to action for researchers, policymakers, and technologists to shape a future where superintelligent systems enhance human flourishing rather than threaten it.
